Syllabus: “Academic Reading”
Intercultural Courses for International Students
Winter Semester 2019/20, Kevin Rausch M.A.

(a) Inhalt und Ansatz | Content and Approach

- This course is designed to prepare students for typical reading tasks set in university seminars. Different reading tasks (such as analysing a scholarly paper for a seminar discussion, preparing a report on a journal article, or merely reading a novel for private entertainment) require different reading techniques; hence, we will practise appropriate techniques for the extensive, selective and detailed reading of texts. Relevant techniques include dealing with unknown vocabulary, search-reading, skimming, close reading, understanding logical organization and evaluating arguments.
- Students require at least an upper-advanced level of English in order to follow the lessons.
- Regular attendance (at least 80% of all sessions) as well as completion of assignments are required for exam admission.
- 3 ECTS credits are granted for successful completion of the course. Therefore, students should be prepared to spend at least twice as much time on preparatory and follow-up work as in the classroom.
- It is recommended (though not obligatory) to attend this course alongside the “Academic Writing” course on Tuesday afternoon.

(b) Qualifikationsziele | Learning Objectives

- The course aims at improving students’ reading comprehension in an academic context.
- Students will become familiar with various extensive and selective reading techniques.
- Students will enhance their academic vocabulary, including typical Latin and Greek roots for English words.
